

Power of Procrastination

- aka “Shower Time”
- aka “Sleeping on It”
- I don’t need to think everything through before starting
- I start doing something and will learn new things about the problem as I go
- The hard-earned work is my thinking and my data

Power of Procrastination - Do Something / Anything

- I start doing something and will learn new things about the problem as I go
- the “secret” is to never allow myself to be backed into a corner
- I assume that I will throw my work away and start again
- This assumption changes my overall approach